Moviestorm Pro is a versatile 2.0 product that is used for creating 3D.Q: Automatically compile documents from database I have a simple question. I have a bunch of documents in a database and I need to execute them automatically. I don't know much about Drupal, PHP or any other "standard" things. But I am familiar with SQL and I think this should be a piece of cake. I just need to run a query to get a list of documents and then execute them. I can't find anything relevant. It seems like.NET has a module called DocDB which might be applicable, but I could not find it. So I am stuck here. Any ideas? A: You can use a View for this. Views is a Drupal module that allows you to write SQL queries that are then executed as Drupal tables. You can then use basic Rules to run actions on nodes to do work on them. The link below is a basic starting point with an example (which you can expand and modify). Drupal Views linking to Rules Conditions Q: Question about using D3 for tutorial I am trying to follow this tutorial: I did just recently get into D3 but I'm finding it is a bit of a struggle to understand. I am especially confused by his map code - specifically with how he is integrating his svg and canvas code with it. I don't want to just copy and paste the whole thing but I'm still not sure where to even start with my own code. (I have tried to emulate the map code in my own code so far). I am currently getting some errors and it

"The launch of Migrate My, the service, is in line with the Prime Minister's aspiration of providing quality healthcare for the poor and marginalised," said the Prime Minister in a statement yesterday. "We want to ensure that this service is made available to senior citizens living in areas where there is no or limited healthcare facilities," he added. Some of the areas where such facilities are currently not available in include: * Kulim; * Seberang Tengah (Sungai Tengah); * Semporna; * Tambaran; * Ayer Keroh and Batu Ferringhi. Migrate My, or the Elderly and Disabled citizens' Service, is a web-based platform that enables any senior citizens, who are registered with their respective Kelab Darul Aman (KDA) offices, to locate medical and nursing clinics in their areas. Using a national identification card - the Seniors Card - as identity, they will be able to see a list of facilities where they can receive healthcare services. "Migrate My, which is powered by TM BHD, is able to enable senior citizens to be in the driving seat of healthcare, ensuring better coordination amongst healthcare providers," said KDA director-general Dr Lee Swee Pheng. The TM BHD recognised that many senior citizens residing in the rural areas faced difficulties in
